

THE MORNING APPEAL.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 31

Seeds for Distribution.

A letter from Congressman Newlands says that he has been allotted 2000 packets of assorted flower seed, 40,000 packets of assorted vegetable seed and 252 packets of field seed by the department of agriculture, and that the seed will be ready for distribution January 1st, 1897. He requests that all persons desiring seed send him their names, stating the kind of seeds desired, which will be forwarded to them by mail.

All State papers are asked to make mention of this distribution of seeds, so that farmers and others in all parts of the State may have an opportunity of securing their share of them.

Somebody Slipped a Cog.

The teachers who visited the Institute at Elko complain that they were not very enthusiastically received when they reached the town. Regarding the matter the Independent has the following:

A whole carload of pretty school ma'ams arrived last night from Reno and points along the road. When they alighted from the car they fell among strangers as no committee of the Elko teachers were present to meet them and pilot them to the parlor of the hotel. This has occasioned some friction among the teachers and they are not able to discover much of Elko's vaunted hospitality. The Independent wishes the visiting teachers to understand that their chilly reception is no fault of the people of Elko. We assure them that our hearts are with them and we trust that though their first appearance among us seemed chilly that as they become better acquainted they will like us better and forget their reception.

No one who has ever had any experience with Elko people would think of charging them with a lack of hospitality. The Elkoites are not built that way.

The Appeal's solution of the whole matter is that the train arrived ahead of time, or the people managing the affair neglected to telegraph to Elko when they could expect the crowd. No one would think of Elko people giving a car load of pretty school ma'ams "the overlook."

What's everybody's business is nobody's business and so somebody "slipped a cog."

Now Elko will outdo herself to make amends for the original oversight and put hospitality all over them like a warm blanket.

At last accounts the school ma'ams were presented with the keys of the town on a platter.

Maceo Bobs up Again.

New York, Dec. 30.—An officer of the steamer Villalencia, which arrived from Havana yesterday, said that while the vessel lay at Havana he learned from several Cubans in that city that the belief prevailed there among the adherents to the Cuban cause that Maceo was not murdered. He is now planning a coup d'etat in Matanzas. They base their belief on a story told by a passenger on a train which skirts the boundary of the province of Matanzas, who declared that he saw General Maceo passing through the train with his troops as the train moved slowly along.

The officers of the steamship had seen nothing of the filibuster. Three friends and were surprised and greatly interested when informed of the recent thrilling episode in which the little craft is alleged to have taken part while trying to land arms and men on the Cuban coast recently.

Division of Counties

The Picche Record says: Some of the residents of Nye county favor dividing the county up and going out of business. If divided the county will fall principally to Lincoln, White Pine, Eureka and Esmeralda counties, but Lincoln already has too much territory and too great a debt, and some of its southern residents favor a division of the county and creating a new county seat at Overton in Muddy Valley. The coming Legislature will have its attention directed to this matter.

Do Minerals Grow?

Every day something turns up in the mineral world of Nevada to upset previously conceived geological theories. There are some who insist that the formation of minerals can be of much more recent origin than at first supposed.

It is a generally accepted theory that quartz, sandstone and slate are geological formations which require thousands of years to form. Recently the editor of the Appeal was shown a specimen of quartz which never could have existed over twenty years ago. The quartz in question was taken out of the Yellow Jacket mine, from between the timbers. The timbers were put in twenty years ago and the matter forming the quartz had apparently oozed through a crack and adhered to the timber. It was about the size and had the appearance of a cauliflower. There was a mass rather soft and crumbling to the touch, and in places woven together like threads; and in this mass, and a part of it, were three distinct and perfectly formed quartz crystals. The mass had been pushed through the crack while in a plastic state, and then formed in the bunch described. The specimen shows where it adhered to the timber. He also has a piece of sandstone taken from the creek at Steven's Mill, near Dayton. The mill was built seventeen years ago, and a portion of a wooden stake driven into the ground at the time is solidly imbedded in the sandstone, which is as firm and hard as any sandstone of the old sandstone period. There is a rusty nail in the wedge.

A Painful Rumor.

Those who are on the inside claim that the Governor has good reasons for removing George Mills, the Fish Commissioner. The boys say that Mills only learned what he knows about fish since he went into office. This is especially true of trout and it is said that the reason the Governor decided on a change was because he heard that awful story about Mills, first trout catch at Lake Tahoe.

It is said by some old Isaac Waltons of the Lake that one day Mills fishing from the stern of a boat near Glenbrook was seen to catch several fish and throw them all back into the water, indulging in more or less profanity meanwhile. At least he came ashore and made the startling announcement that all the trout in the lake had the measles, exhibiting a three pounder all covered with yellow spots in corroboration of his diagnosis. It seems pretty hard to bring up such stories as these to down a man politically, but in this instance the records seem to have been pulled.

Boots Blacked.

The colored landmark of Carson whose maiden name is "Blue" has leased the foot black stand at Muller's barber shop and will polish the shoes of our citizens at the regular rates. Mr. "Blue," although somewhat advanced in years, is a solo performer with brushes and blacking and his work is justly compared with the old masters.

The fact that he is at the helm of the blacking and polishing department is a guarantee that the department will be properly run and in the interests of the suffering public.

Cuban News.

Madrid, Dec. 30.—A special from Manila says that the Spaniards under General Mateo, in two engagements, defeated the insurgents, killing 107. The Spanish loss was small. The insurgents captured the Seaport of Moron, province of Bataan. General Ries has driven the insurgents out of Balleag, killing 350.
